

I urge you to support the continuation of the provisions of the No Call List as it is presently constituted. Should exceptions begin to be made, the floodgates will be opened. The consumer must retain the option to prevent invasions of privacy in their own home.